

What 2017 may mean for us all ...

This year is part of an amazing shift in consciousness that is now starting to touch all our lives.

When we take a look at nature and at our own lives we can perhaps see how everything evolves in cycles and cycles that can best be represented by numbers.

In Numerology, the year represents challenges we face collectively, as well as on an individual basis. With the new Millennium in 2000, a new cycle began. Before the year 2000 there were approximately 1900 years, when everyone on this planet would have had a dominant 1 energy in their chart. The 1 is represented by the sun and fire, it represents the generator, the unstoppable spiritual will, dynamic, outgoing - a naive energy with the idea or will to do something, the impetus to build, completely unstoppable. A 1 personality is typically the independent self achiever, the pioneer, the leader focussed totally on their goals and on doing things in their own way.

The 2 energy is very different to the 1, the 2 is represented by the moon and water, the 2 is the Goddess energy, typically working in subtle ways, weighing up ideas and bringing elements together. A 2 personality is typically the diplomat, the facilitator, the co-ordinator working in subtle ways, to bring about peace and harmony.

The year 2000 also brought a great deal of potential with it, the zero represents potential in Numerology. The Potential or zero represents the no-thing that is everything, the no-thing that is eternal and the ultimate source to which everything returns. The fact there are three zeros in the year 2000 is also significant. The 3 in numerology represents the blue print or the plan, as masculine, feminine energies and potential come together to create. In Numerology nothing happens without the 3 and 3 zeros can mean a potential for creativity and communication.

In approximately 100 years from now, everyone on this planet will have a dominant 2 in their chart. This essentially means a new type of leader emerging, one who leads from behind and is very sensitive to the needs of others. A leader with 2 energy typically uses 'soft power' and works in more subtle ways, weighing everything up and considering every possibility. With such a shift in consciousness we may need a new educational system, as children may not be so competitive and may be thinking in completely different ways. Big corporations and politicians may also have to wake up to the face that they have a new type of customer or voter, one who considers others, not just their own interests, one who will consider in detail before buying or voting. This 'soft power' also lends itself to social media, where everyone has a voice and can work in subtle ways, sharing information, weighing all the facts up, working with others and getting into groups easily.

By following the years from 2001 to now we can see the following cycles evolving: -
